

QUEER MATTERS IN AFRICA: an intellectual history

a talk with

Marc Epprecht

Associate Professor of History and Development Studies
Queens University, Ontario

commentary: Professor Abena Busia

Departments of Women's and Gender Studies & English

additional remarks: Cary Alan Johnson,

International Senior Specialist for Africa

Gay and Lesbian Human Rights Commission

Thursday, November 3, 2005

Ruth Dill Johnson Crockett lecture hall

Douglass Campus

4:30 - 6:00 pm: Lecture

6:00 - 6:30 pm: Reception

Dr. Mark Epprecht is the author of a new book, Hungochani: The History of a Dissident Sexuality in Southern Africa. He has written widely on African sexuality including "Male-Male Sexuality in Lesotho: Two Conversations" (Journal of Men's Studies), "'Unnatural Vice' in South Africa: The 1907 Commission of Enquiry" (International Journal of African Historical Studies), and "'This Matter of Women in Getting Very Bad: Gender, Development and Politics in Colonial Lesotho,'" (Canadian Journal of Development Studies), among others. Join us for a lively discussion of this important but understudied topic. His talk is based on an upcoming book.

Sponsored by: The Center for Social Justice and Education & LGBT Communities, Center for Women's Global Leadership, Department of Africana Studies, Center for African Studies, and the Institute for Research on Women